TSL Announces New Office In Dubai

TSL will soon be opening the doors to a new office in Dubai.

This new facility is planned to be based in Studio City. Following in the footsteps of the famous Media City, Studio City will cater to the production needs of facilities in the region and will house major movie studios.

This announcement significantly strengthens TSL's long-standing presence in the Middle East region, increasing the local and regional opportunities for the company's systems integration and professional products divisions.

Founded in 1986, TSL is a UK system integrator. This is the first time that TSL has opened an office outside of the UK and is thus a major milestone in the company's 22 year history.

TSL will shortly be announcing new appointments for the staffing of the office, which will include local engineering and administration support team members.
