

Tallyman success in China

TSL has announced the sale of more than 100 of its dynamic TallyMan UMD and tally systems to Sanitec Broadcast Systems and Century Sage Scientific, both based in Beijing. Sanitec and Century Sage Scientific are leading system integrators of facilities and OB trucks as well as major distributors of head-end equipment to the Chinese broadcast market.

TallyMan offers simple and intuitive configuration, providing complete cueing and tally indication control critical to a modern broadcast application. TallyMan systems are in use by leading broadcasters worldwide and are a result of TSL's extensive first-hand experience of working with major broadcasters on system design and integration.

TSL Professional Products Group general manager Chris Exelby said: "The importance of the Chinese broadcast market cannot be overestimated and we are very pleased that our TallyMan range has gained such wide acceptance and respect in this vital part of the broadcast world."