

TSL Tapeless Project...

TSL has been awarded the contract for the project to provide a tapeless production platform for NRK's Programme Bank project.

Norway's national broadcaster NRK selected TSL following a lengthy and rigorous bid selection process, which saw the two companies look in detail at the best way to achieve NRK's vision of a future broadcast workflow. TSL will oversee the design, integration, implementation and testing of Programme Bank, which begins roll-out in January 2007.

NRK currently broadcasts two channels NRK1 and NRK2, as well as 12 regional stations. Production and transmission facilities for a new NRK channel which will be launched at a later date
